

Save the Date!

Media Matters Writing Conference

November 5 for High School teachers and students

November 6 for Middle School (6-8th grade) teachers and students

The FREE Media Matters Writing Conference held at UMass Boston is now in its 5th year of exciting students about media, journalism and writing.... in all its many forms!

All Day Program Includes:

- ~ Multiple lecture workshops
- ~ Intense, interactive classes
 - ~ Free breakfast!
 - ~ Free lunch!
- ~ Advisor-only luncheon with special guest speakers
- ~ Pre-registration for workshops

REGISTER NOW: www.umb.edu/mediamatters/

Through a collaboration of the Boston Globe and UMass Boston, Media Matters inspires young writers and gives their teachers the tools necessary to promote student success in writing technique and style.

"As an educator, I cannot thank you enough for creating and managing the conference, and for giving our students a chance to know a classroom-without-walls."

~ Denise S. Turner, Dr. Kevin M. Hurley Middle School, Seekonk, MA.

More than 2,300 students and teachers from across New England have participated, honing their skills in a variety of techniques, from college essay writing to political cartooning and interview skills!

Workshop leaders are recruited from a diverse variety of media communications --including newspapers, radio, TV and cable-- to share their writing talents and professional acumen.

Please watch the Media Matters video on YouTube:
<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bm2akPUCV2w>